

RPCC Library Online Catalog: Working with Search Results

Sample Search:

Advanced or Basic Search

Using either the Basic or Advanced Search, a result list indicates search type (keywords anywhere, author, title, etc.) search terms used, and the number of items in the list. Also note that result lists of over 200 results will not be sorted for an advanced search.

- Family, Marriage, Women

On the right of the screen, users may choose to continue the search in Google, which will open in a new tab or window, based on the browser settings.

Below that, users are provided a list of categories (or topics) that include items from the result list. Using Categories can help give more context to a search, narrowing the results. Users may also see “Try these too,” suggesting other related subject terms.

Narrowing the results to the category “Family, Marriage, Women,” for example, reduced the original list to a more manageable list of 29.

Limiting a search allows users to change various search criteria:

Such as selecting a specific library, changing the sort, etc.

- These limits, individually or in combination, can be used to refine a search and narrow or broaden the results.
- More search terms and search types may be added or changed.
- The search may be limited by Library, item type, or location.
- The sort order may be changed to list items by author, subject, title, relevance, or date, either newest to oldest or oldest to newest. Limited Search Results

Title records in the result lists include the following information:

23. <input type="checkbox"/> Keep 	Ceasefire! : why women and men must join forces to achieve true equality Young, Cathy. HQ1421 .Y58 1999 1999 1 copy available at River Parishes Community College in Standard shelving location

25. <input type="checkbox"/> Keep	Everything you need to know about breaking the cycle of domestic violence [electronic resource] 1st ed. Kinstlinger-Bruhn, Charlotte. AVAILABLE ONLINE

- Check box to keep the item, which will add it to a Kept List for later review, printing or emailing.
- Some items may include a cover image.
- The title of the item.
- The author or publisher of the item (if available).
- The item's call number; note that all online resources indicate "Available online" as the call number.
- Year of publication
- The number of copies available and in what collection or source; physical items that are checked out will include an estimated wait time in days.
- The record may also include a URL
 - Depending on the item, it may be a link to online access to the item or it may be a link to information about the item.
 - If the link directs users to the item, typical for online items, off-campus access will require login. See the RPCC Library Services User Guide or How to Access Library Resources from the Library homepage.

Using the "Kept" feature:

Once "Keep" has been checked for selected items, the box label changes to "Remove," indicating that the item has been added to the Kept List.

- From here, users may sort the list by title, author or call number, and limit list by library.
- View of Records refers to the details available about the records.
 - Brief only provides the author, if given, the title, call number, type of material and location for each item.
 - Full includes publication information, physical description, contents note or summary (if available in the record), subject terms, and any URLs available. This level is useful for citation information and later access, particularly for online resources.
 - All includes more cataloguing data typically not useful for most users.
- Print Formatted provides a printer-friendly option. Pop-up must be allowed for the window to open. This version may also be saved as a text file.
- Users may also enter an email address to send the information for future reference.
- Once the information has been printed or e-mailed, users may remove titles from the Kept list as needed; the list will also be cleared when the browser is closed.
- To avoid e-mailing or printing duplicate records, it is recommended that users complete a search before printing or sending selected titles.

A Closer Look at a Title Record

Clicking on the title for a record will open the Item Details for that record, which provides a bit more on the item. Here, users may also select to keep or remove a title from their kept list.

Other search options related to the title become available including:

- Find more by this author.
- Find more on these topics, and.
- Nearby items on shelf.

Each Item Detail includes three parts: Item Information, A Look Inside, and the Catalog Record. The amount and types of information available in each part varies from item to item.
